The above error occurred in the <NotSetupYetPrompt> component:

React will try to recreate this component tree from scratch using the error boundary you provided, RenderInShadowRootWrapper.

Error: "An error was thrown inside one of your components, but React doesn't know what it was. browser-polyfill.min.js:11:28" is likely due to browser flakiness. React does its best to preserve the "Pause on exceptions" behavior of the DevTools, which requires some DEV-mode only tricks. It's possible that these don't work in your browser. Try triggering the error in production mode, or switching to a modern browser. If you suspect that this is actually an issue with React, please file an issue.

The screenshot displays the 'OLD BUT GOLD' website's registration page. The header is dark blue with the brand name 'OLD BUT GOLD' and a 'Catalog' link. A dark blue navigation bar at the bottom contains links for 'Home', 'About Us', 'Contact Us', 'My Account', and 'Favorites'. A central white registration form is titled 'Register' and includes a link for users who 'Already have an account? Login'. The form fields are: 'User Name*' (filled with 'SofiaYesakova'), 'Email*' (filled with 'buyandsell@gmail.com'), 'Password*' (masked with dots), and 'Confirm Password*' (masked with dots). A password requirement section states: 'Your password must contain: at least 8 characters, at least one uppercase letter, at least one lowercase letter, at least one number, at least one special character (e.g. ! @ # $ %)'. A blue 'Register' button is at the bottom of the form. A footer section encourages users to 'Subscribe to receive updates and special offers' with an email input field and a 'Subscribe' button. Social media links for Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, YouTube, and TikTok are listed on the right side of the footer.
